

Sample Partnership Grant Projects

Alachua County History Series

The Matheson Museum in Gainesville conducted a series of five programs that highlighted the diverse history of Alachua County. Topics of the presentations by leading historians included Reconstruction, Plantation Era, and the travels of William Bartram, Women, and African American Education.

Religion & Science in Contemporary Life Lecture Series

St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Lake Worth hosted a series of programs that explored challenging contemporary social issues within a framework of religious studies. Leading scholars gave talks following a covered-dish supper and then engaged in dialogue with the audience.

Ninth Annual Kingsley Heritage Celebration: Flight for Freedom

The Kingsley Plantation in Jacksonville hosted an annual daylong festival that focused on an aspect of the history and heritage of the site. Historians, anthropologists, authors, and artists addressed the theme of the festival, drawing on African-American traditions related to those who occupied Kingsley.

Hispanic Heritage

Latino holidays and ceremonies were commemorated with programs sponsored by the Tavares Public Library. Literature, dance, folklore, religion, and musical presentations were introduced by a folklore scholar.
